

Circumcision opponents respond with malice to our first counter-protest - the 2016 AAP Conference in San Francisco

This, my friends, is the quiet before the storm. I am so happy to report that we are making great inroads on identifying the so-called "counter-protesters" who came to protest against our protest of the pro-genital mutilation policy of the AAP. These "people" claim to be PPC, a euphemism for pro-parents choice, but in fact identify themselves as being "circumsexual".

I wonder if his employer knows he is such an advocate for child sex abuse?

Circumcision opponents respond with malice

A group of pro-parents choice advocates planned, funded, and executed a counter-protest at the AAP National Conference in San Francisco. We conveyed our appreciation for AAP pediatricians who work tirelessly to keep children healthy. And we expressed our disgust with the anti-circumcision activists who attack the doctors, using vile slurs and vicious intimidation tactics. We believe it was the first organized grass-roots response to the anti-circumcision movement.

REACTION

The responses from the intactivist community have been predictably vitriolic and boorish. Our adversaries have determined that we are “pro cutters”, “dumb and evil”, “ignorant”, “despicable”, “morons”, “imbeciles”, “maggots”, “narcissists”, “trolls”, “perverts”, “pedophiles”, and “circumfetishists.” Our protest has been judged “pathetic”, “weak”, a “sorry demonstration”, and “human ignorance at it’s [sic] lowest point.”

Our new website and Facebook page have driven some of the fanatics to anguish. Apparently the delicate snowflakes are unable to cope with having their own misguided views challenged via sober analysis and science-based evidence.

Our adversaries say we lack conviction, “view children as property,” and “want baby boys to be sliced up.” They complain that we attack their character – while they viciously defame the character of heroic physicians. Meanwhile the executive director of Intact America dismisses us as “insignificant.”

MOTIVES

Our opponents are frantic to vilify anyone who dares to stand up and oppose their harassment of doctors and parents. Our opponents are telling themselves that we were hired by the AAP or by individual doctors and that we were paid $40 to hold signs produced by the AAP.

We are all volunteers who paid our own transportation, lodging, and meal expenses. Each team member paid for her own T-shirt. Our group, including many who couldn’t attend in person, combined resources to cover the cost of the signs, which were printed at an office supply store. No one paid us, no one asked us to protest, and the American Academy of Pediatrics had no knowledge of our plans.

RETALIATION

Intactivist aggressors seek to inflict real-life punishment in the form of humiliation and economic harm on anyone who dares to who stand up to them. They juxtapose photos of our anti-bullying signs with pictures of 1950’s racists and contemporary homophobes. They accuse us of being “circumfetishists” who view children as property. They say that we are aroused by the act of circumcision or by viewing pre-pubescent genitals. We won’t dignify such scurrilous accusations with a response.

Our adversaries are pouring through posts and photos in order to compile a dossier on each of our six sign holders. Threats to expose our identities, inflict physical violence, and harass team members by contacting our employers have been met with the approval of the online mob.

We hold all who collaborate with the bullies responsible for their malicious actions. That includes groups like Intact America that coordinate their events with the bullies.

WE WON’T BE INTIMIDATED. WE WON’T BE SILENCED. WE WON’T BACK DOWN.
THE HARASSMENT OF DOCTORS AND PARENTS MUST END.

*Most of the screen shots on the following pages are from public pages and groups.
A few intended for private or limited audiences were sent to us by rational circumcision opponents who are fed up with the bullying behavior and hysteria of the rabid online mob.*

Circumcision opponents respond with malice

Our group clearly stands for parental choice, and none of our sign holders perform circumcisions. Yet James Loewen, a Canadian anti-circumcision propagandist who calls himself an independent documentary photographer, dishonestly identified us in his captions as “pro child cutters.”

It took them months of planning to make a few signs and t-shirts and get a whole 4 or 5 people to be at the same place for 4 hours. Its like a really bad comedy sketch

What obvious and intentional exaggeration! The pathetic group of 5 or 6 losers who were "counter protesting" for half a day hardly represented anything other than human ignorance at it's lowest point.

They are such a joke. While I generally support people getting out and protesting, they are not actually trying to make any changes. They are trying to keep the status quo while attacking other protestors character. It's pathetic.

Some perverts were upset that the truth is exposing their crime, so they had to act all tough and smart to try to promote their abusive ritual.

These people enjoy knowing that genital mutilation is alive and well in America. These people want no man to ever know his whole body. These people are narcissists who WANT baby boys to be sliced up in our hospitals. These people view children as property; they don't believe in equality.

These imbeciles are circling the drain, festering in their own bile and filth.

You can bet on that. Because when circumcision is finally recognized for the mutilation it is. Chances are that a lot of doctors. Particularly those that were warned will find themselves being sued for large amounts of compensation by thier victims.

I think they can't bear to face the weight of all the harm they've indirectly caused to so many boys. It's just too much for them to think about so they have to keep vehemently denying it or they'd just collapse. No sympathy for those bullies though. They put themselves in that condition by choice.

5 hours ago · Edited · Like · Reply

Robbert Plink

There may well be legal reasons they have to take the stand they do. You see regardless of wether they changed their minds about circumcision they can't suddenly say it's genital mutilation. It's like when you are in a car accident you insurance frowns on you addmitting to being in the wrong regardless of how obvious it is. They are sitting on a liability powder keg and most of them especially the insurance company's know it. So they are stalling for as long as they posibly can in order to avoid at least some of the cost as the older survivors shuffle their mortal coils. If a deal was struck that cut of the date at which sexual abuse of this nature put the doctors in the clear then they would fall into line much more quickly. As it is they have to maintain the myth until the public decides that enough is enough.

James Loewen's assumption that our team left in disgrace is absurd. The counter-protester whose identity they "figured out" had introduced himself to several intactivists during the day. Our team, conducting our first protest event, had always planned to demonstrate for just one day. We left at our appointed time, as we wished to wash up and change clothes for a dinner reservation at Fisherman's Wharf.

Circumcision opponents respond with malice

Intactivists were so delighted with this obscene analogy of a 1959 racist anti-integration rally in Little Rock, Ark. to our pro-doctor, anti-bullying counter-protest signs, they shared it 35 times.

Cynthia Maloney added a new photo to the album: INTACTIVISM.

Human rights issues are always met by the people who don't want their reign of oppression to end. And baby boys in American are still grossly oppressed.

These people get a sexual kick out of seeing the penis mutilated. No doubt it will come to light that circumcision videos are a collectors item to these perverts and when attending bar mitzvas they are very likely to be fully erect.

Finally! Everyone is in bed! It was a long day today! The little one had hockey practice at 8 a.m. . Then, the other three had three games in four hours at three different arenas 15 miles apart. Each got an assist, two assists, and two assists, for a win, win, and a tie! How great to have such little superstars! To celebrate, after supper I took them to see the Halloween movie, Boo!

And now, I have a little time to catch up on Facebook! I am sipping on some Vidal and munching on some smoked Gorgonzola and sesame crackers. Yummy.

This, my friends, is the quiet before the storm. I identify them as being circumfetishists, because of their penchant and sexual arousal for cutting baby or child penises, or my newly coined word, circumfreaks. (Can someone please add that to the Urban Dictionary?!) I also question if indeed they may be pedophiles. It is so exciting as we work to expose the lot of them!

I said I was coming to San Francisco to kick myself some cutter ass!
I kept my word! I did, and I am...with great gusto and relish! And some ketchup! :)

The "Circumcision Choice" page is a sore tooth that I am going to have to stop biting. Their characterisation of Jonathon Conte is vile. They take a magisterial tone about their content, such that it is going to be difficult to post anything that disagrees with them.. I am going to try to stay away, for the sake of my time and my mental health.
